BEGIN ARGUMENT

In Standard Oil Case At St. Louis To-day.

St. Louis, April 4.—(Special.)—The full bench of four judges, comprising the United States Circuit Court of this district, will hear arguments in the Standard Oil case to-day. The case, which has been pending since the summer of 1928, is the first in which the Supreme Court has heard arguments in a case involving the constitutionality of the Sherman anti-trust act. The case is the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey vs. United States.

The case involves the constitutionality of the Sherman anti-trust act, which was passed in 1890. The act prohibits any contract, combination or conspiracy in restraint of trade. The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has been charged with violating this act by its alleged monopoly in the oil business.

The case is being heard by a full bench of four judges, which is a rare occurrence in the circuit court. The judges are Chief Judge Clegg, Judge Ladd, Judge McMillen and Judge Smith.

The case is expected to be heard for several days. The arguments are expected to be very lengthy and complex.

Work Under Permit From Board.

When asked what the bridge company will do about the permit, Mitchell replied that under the permit from the Board of Public Works, the company would proceed with the work until the courts ruled. "We expect to get the permit renewed," he said, "and we believe the Council will see that our claims are just and right."

The project, which Councilman Schreiner charged that John H. Beards, a real estate dealer, and a member of the Board of Public Works, had profited from both the property holders and the bridge company, is the Standard Oil Company's proposed bridge over the Ohio River. The bridge is to be built on the site of the old bridge, which was destroyed by fire in 1928.

The bridge company has been operating its bridge since the fire, but it has been unable to get a new permit from the Board of Public Works. The company has been operating its bridge on a temporary permit from the Board of Public Works.

Seal Catch Proves Failure.

St. Johns, N. F., April 4.—The apparent failure of the seal catch in the Gulf of St. Lawrence was reported by the steamer Harlow, which arrived today empty. The Harlow reported that the seal catch was a complete failure. The Harlow was carrying a crew of 15 men and a large amount of equipment.

The seal catch was part of a larger project to seal the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The project was authorized by the United States government. The project was to seal the Gulf of St. Lawrence to prevent the entry of foreign ships.

GETS GOD JOB

Ludlow Petty, Private Secretary to Senator Bradley.

COLLECTOR CRAFT MAY LOSE HEAD BEFORE NOVEMBER.

CONGRESSMAN LANGLEY'S COUSIN IN THE TOILS.

FAMOUS TREES ARE DEAD.

Washington, April 4.—(Special.)—As soon as he transfers his office over to his successor, Postmaster Hughes, Mr. Ludlow Petty, of Louisville, will become the private secretary of Senator Bradley. Under the salary schedule of the last Congress, the position will pay $2,000. Mr. Petty has been mentioned for several good offices, and he is expected to be up until November, though a successor to him may be appointed before that time. The idea that Mr. Petty will be able to retain his place is scouted at by Kentucky Republicans.

Langley's Cousin Arrested.

Roy M. Wright, formerly of Prestonsburg, Ky., a railway mail clerk, was arrested here this morning as he stepped from a train in the Union Station. The arrest was made by the Washington police upon the request of the authorities at Boston. Wright was wanted on a charge of embezzlement and officers are on their way to Washington with requisition papers for him. Wright, who is a distant relative of Representative Langley, is being held in the Sixth precinct station. Counsel has been engaged for him and efforts will be made to secure his release as soon as possible.

It is stated in the dispatch from Boston that Wright was charged with the embezzlement of $10,000 from the Boston and Albany Railroad. Wright was charged with the embezzlement of $10,000 from the Boston and Albany Railroad.

FRENCH COMMISSION DECIDES ON CHANGES

NEW TARIFF BILL AROUSES STORM OF PROTEST.

ENGLAND AND THE UNITED STATES BOTH DISSATISFIED.

THREATENS COMMERCIAL WAR

Paris, April 4.—The Tariff Commission, as the result of violent protests from home and foreign interests, especially England, has decided to make amendments, covering chiefly the metal and textile schedules. Although the French government has not yet made public, it is learned that several notable concessions have been made in favor of the United States. The maximum duty on heavy agricultural machinery, practically all of which is imported from the United States, originally was increased from fifteen to sixteen francs per hundred kilos. This has now been reduced to twelve and a half francs. The maximum duty on typewriters has been reduced from twenty-five to twenty francs. The maximum duty on sewing machines has been reduced from twenty-five to twenty francs. The maximum duty on automobiles has been reduced from twenty-five to twenty francs.

Reported That President Gomez May Turn Venezuelan Republic Over To Velutini.

Caracas, April 4.—Via Willemstad, island of Curacao, April 4.—It is reported that the President of Venezuela, General Gomez, will turn over the presidency temporarily to Velutini, the second Vice President of the Republic. It was to Gomez that President Castro handed over the reins of the Republic when he left for Europe on November 21 last. Less than a month later Gomez died, and Castro, who was then Vice President, was appointed a new Cabinet and himself became President.

It was reported that the deposed President would remain abroad, but now that he is actually on board a steamer bound for the United States, it is believed that he will actually come to La Guayra, the greatest seaport of Venezuela, where he will be received by Castro.

LOSS $2,000,000

Big District of Fort Worth, Stock Market Recovering From Long Dullness.

HENRY CLEWS SAYS BEST CURE FOR STOCK MARKET IS TO STOP LOOTING.

RELIEF COMMITTEE NAMED AT MASS MEETING.

LITTLE ACTUAL SUFFERING.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 4.—To a party of small boys and a carelessly thrown cigarette is generally credited the fire of yesterday, which destroyed property in South Fort Worth valued at $2,000,000, caused the death of one person, J. J. Newton, a bank employee, the serious injury of six others, rendered 200 families homeless and will cause the temporary idleness of several hundred workmen employed in the manufacturing plants and business houses burned.

All of the day and night the burned district is under the guard of State troops to prevent looting, and although worn out by the continuous labor, the entire fire-fighting force of the city is still engaged in extinguishing the burning embers, which are still high, spasmoidically springing into a blaze.

Started In A Barn.

The fire originated in a barn near the corner of May and Taylor streets. Driven by a gale blowing from the southwest, the flames quickly spread to adjoining buildings, including the headquarters of the city fire department. The fire was caused by a cigarette thrown into a pile of hay. The fire was caused by a cigarette thrown into a pile of hay.

Improvement In Business.

Trade reports from various parts of the country are also more encouraging, and suggest a moderate revival in trade. It must be remembered that in many cases the uncertainty and lack of confidence in the future of the country have been a serious handicap to business. The uncertainty and lack of confidence in the future of the country have been a serious handicap to business.

Big Area In Ruins.

The burned area is approximately a mile and a half in length and a half mile wide, and while it will require days to clear away the debris, the fire has caused a conservative estimate places the aggregate loss at $2,000,000. The fire was caused by a cigarette thrown into a pile of hay. The fire was caused by a cigarette thrown into a pile of hay.

ALLEGED TILTS

Discovered by Lieutenant Foster and Other Officers.

FIRST BALMY DAY RESULTED IN POLICE ACTIVITY.

ONE SALOONKEEPER SAYS HE WAS LOOKING AFTER PUPS.

ALL DENY THE CHARGES.

With the dawning of the first warm spring day, which seemingly created some awful tilts, came the arrest of three men, whom the police believed were "tilting the lid." One hotel fell under the ban of the police and at three different saloons it is alleged that the Sunday-closing law was being violated. Although the proprietors were not taken into custody at two other places alleged look-outs were arrested, charged with disorderly conduct.

Lieut. Robert J. Foster, acting captain of the Fourth district, investigated late Saturday night, and at 2 o'clock yesterday morning an alleged tilt in the id discovered in a rooming house at 420 E. Yeager, at 1801 Rowan street. He was charged with violating the Sunday-closing law, keeping a disorderly house and suffering from the premises.

According to the police, the proprietor of the saloon was selling liquor and Sergeant Daily, Lewis, and other police officers went to the place, after waiting a short time for the proprietor to open a side door. Foster admitted them and in the kitchen in the rear of the saloon the police alleged they found five men playing a game of cards.

Placed under a ban of the police, the Fourth district police station, where they gave their names as James Finkley, Nick Sticks, Ed Harris and "Babe" Lucas. All were charged with violating the Sunday-closing law, keeping a disorderly house and suffering from the premises. An additional charge was made against Sticks. A lot of poker chips and beer glasses are being held by the police as evidence against the alleged offenders.

Yeager denies that he was violating the Sunday-closing law. He says he was asleep in a room in the rear of the saloon when the police came in. He says he was a saloonkeeper and that he was not playing a game of cards. He says he was not playing a game of cards. He says he was not playing a game of cards.

Only Looking After Pups.

What might be characterized as a near-raid was made on the saloon of George E. Bauer, at 1001 E. Third street, at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Patrolmen, under the leadership of the Fifth district police station, in plain clothes, entered the saloon and grocery store, and after a search of the place, placed the place for evidence, placed the owner and Harry Martin, a friend, under arrest. Martin, who was a friend of the owner, was not arrested and neither were they taken as evidence.

Concerning the raid, the following statement: "I had occasion to do a little work in the office of George E. Bauer, at 1001 E. Third street, at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon. I was looking through my place to the satisfaction, they went over to the bar, on which there was a bottle of stout. I saw a bottle of stout, and one from which about a glassful of beer was being poured. I saw a bottle of stout, and one from which about a glassful of beer was being poured. I saw a bottle of stout, and one from which about a glassful of beer was being poured.

Two Men Arrested.

When Lieut. Foster, Sergt. Smoot and Patrolman Moak and others moved up to the saloon of J. H. Hays, at 1801 High street, yesterday afternoon, they say they saw several men in the saloon. They say they saw several men in the saloon. They say they saw several men in the saloon.

Capt. Piau says his attention was attracted to the Kishwaukee Hotel at Sixth and Green streets at 8:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He says he saw several men in the saloon. He says he saw several men in the saloon. He says he saw several men in the saloon.

Were Slaking Their Thirst.

Guy Bailey was arrested at 7 o'clock last night by Patrolmen Devaney, Young and Rice, charged with having violated the Sunday-closing law in a saloon at Twenty-sixth and Portland avenues. He is alleged by the police that he sold four men were satisfying their thirst around a sub floor, and he and his wife, in a room adjoining the saloon. The police say they received word that the saloon was tilted at the saloon and they entered by way of a rear door. The beer, the tub and the men were at the station-house last night as evidence.

The four men gave their names as Ed Elliott, Roy Davis, Roy Davis and Elmer Compton, formerly a bartender at the saloon. They were charged with disorderly conduct, and the saloon was closed. The men who were prisoners were being taken to the station-house. The men who were prisoners were being taken to the station-house.

At the morning service at the Third Christian church, the resignation of the pastor, Rev. William S. Gamboe, was read. The Rev. Mr. Gamboe will take up his work in new fields, but he decided where he will go, when he leaves Louisville. The resignation, which was read by the Rev. Mr. Gamboe, was read by the Rev. Mr. Gamboe.

The Rev. Mr. Gamboe has been the pastor of the Third Christian church for about fourteen months. He came to Louisville from Watska, Ill., where he served as the pastor of the Third Christian church. The resignation, which was read by the Rev. Mr. Gamboe, was read by the Rev. Mr. Gamboe.

ARMY'S NEW KITCHEN CARS.

[Army and Navy Register.] The "military movement" of troops recently afforded an opportunity to practically test the new kitchen car and detachment mess car, converted from army trucks.

Patrolmen, under the leadership of the Fifth district police station, in plain clothes, entered the saloon and grocery store, and after a search of the place, placed the place for evidence, placed the owner and Harry Martin, a friend, under arrest. Martin, who was a friend of the owner, was not arrested and neither were they taken as evidence.

CANNONING FOR RAIN.

[New York Mail.] It is nearly twenty years since the United States Government made some extended experiments to see if the discharge of cannon had any effect on atmospheric conditions; if, for example, clouds might be compelled to give up the rain or hail they contained, thus mitigating a drought or forestalling a deluge.

Bauer was charged at the police station with violating the Sunday-closing law. He was charged with violating the Sunday-closing law. He was charged with violating the Sunday-closing law.

Whether it is because Capt. Davis is a man of good fortune, or because he simply prefers the classic lines, he tried to explain to the competitor of Flettner.

MACHINE TO KILL WEEDS.

[Los Angeles Times.]

Following up the weeds that it moves along and leaving the roadbed clean, a patent destroyer has been run over the Los Angeles and Redondo tracks the past week, displacing the antiquated "man with the hoe," the method of weed destruction is to be adopted by the railroads of California, particularly in this section, where the fine climate and rich soil constantly produce a prolific crop of weeds. The new machine, which is being used, coming between seventy-five and a hundred gallons an hour under 100 pounds pressure, and skins along the track killing all weeds within a foot of the rails for three or four feet beyond ties on either side. It eats up green weeds as dry grass and roots, and does not stop at weeds which have been killed by the hoe. Usually one application is sufficient to kill everything, but in some cases on the electric lines two are necessary.

The destroyer is simple in construction. It carries a 100-gallon tank and a battery of powerful nozzles producing intense heat. It is at times under complete control of the operator. The Southern Pacific, Los Angeles and Redondo, Santa Ana and Los Angeles and Redondo railways the line will be kept clean by it. The machine shown is the first built, and in kind, use, is a rough idea of what the machine in size, have been constructed. It can cover forty to eighty miles a day and gives right-of-way to all trains, a total cost of $10 to $12 a mile to the roads.

TROLLEY LETTER-BOXES.

Washington, Del., Special to Philadelphia Record.

Experiments now being made prove successful, before long it will seem a bit fashionable to post a letter in the corners of a trolley car. It is possible for a passenger to drop a letter in a box attached to a trolley up-to-date trolley car and have the message sent directly on its way to post-office.

The initiative taken by S. S. T. general manager of the Wilmington and Annapolis Railway Company, and Postmaster Harry C. Conrad, the inventor of the device, George B. McAlister, of Baltimore, consisted to try out his invention in city.

The box is made of a strong metal box, about four feet wide, three feet high and six or eight inches thick. The top of the box is hinged, opening, with no lid or cover like the ordinary mail box. The opening is set down to a narrower slit, through

It is fitted with a special locking device, which allows the box to be opened and emptied of its contents in approximately eight or ten seconds. The receptacle is attached to the side of the car, and can be opened from the front end, and letters may be dropped into it as the cars slow down at street crossings without coming to a stop. Experiments recently conducted indicated that a letter could be slid into the box while the car was going at fifteen miles an hour.

of a little playlet entitled "Billy's Play," played by a company of three. The first was a little on the order of a comedy, and, as a matter of fact, it was a comedy, and most amusing comedy, when Billy's chum took his best shot at an actor's interpretation of the little play. The second playlet was the little musical sketch known as "The Little Tunes." Some clever boys of the Little's school, dressed in the usual school uniform, were singing part of the time as acting of the part of the great, over-weighted schoolmaster. Another episode was a little playlet, in which a girl sang while the music teacher was out of the room. The last playlet was a play of old songs who amused the boys. The illustrated song was up to the top of the list, and the boys of these proved one of the most interesting portions of the programme without doubt.

Buckingham—Excellent Burlesque.

There were no deaths of all that makes the programme acceptable to the nation. The burlesque yesterday, where Miner's Arcian Burlesquers began the first of their fourteen performances. The programme was one of the best of the season. The first was a burlesque on the "Fresh considering that it is about time to draw down the curtain on burlesque entertainment has been patterned after the burlesque of the "The Little's" which has an abundance of laughable action, and a few songs and dances, and numbers and a bevy of boys of the Little's. Not a one of the four burlesques was a failure. The five acts of Sheridan's original version have been
